

Ramadan

3rd Pillar of Islam

So what is it all about?

Is fasting just about giving up food and drink and hoping to lose a few pounds?

“It was in the month of Ramadan that the Qu’ran was revealed...”

How?

Once a year, Muslims abstain from food, drink, and sexual relations between dawn and sunset, and are also expected to control their tongue and temper.

Each day before dawn, Muslims observe a pre-fast meal called Suhoor. and perform the 1st prayer of the day, Fajr (dawn).

When the sun sets, families gather to break the fast at the mosque or at home, usually with dates and water. This meal is known as Iftar. Then, the Muslims perform Maghrib (sunset), the 4th prayer of the day, after which they eat their main meal.

Since the Islamic calendar is based on lunar months of 29 or 30 days, Ramadan moves slowly through the seasons, starting 10 days earlier each solar year; its end is marked by the celebration called "Eid ul Fitr".

Why?

Ramadan is an annual period of reflection, purification and spiritual renewal; extra time is devoted to prayer and reciting the Qu'ran, and more donations are made to charity.

Fasting is a means of learning self-restraint and discipline, a healthy detoxification process.

"Oh you who believe!
Fasting is prescribed to you as it was prescribed to the nations before you, in order that you gain piety" (Quran 2:183)

"He wants you to complete the prescribed period and glorify Him for having guided you, so you may be thankful" (Quran 2:185)

All prophets used to fast, as did Jesus and David !

Who?

Any healthy Muslim adult has been prescribed to fast in this month.

Whoever has major health concerns is exempt from fasting.: severe illness, pregnancy, diabetes etc.

Which Benefits?

By fasting, a believer reflects, acts and better his or her character.
